

BIRTH TO 19

ABOUT US

Birth to 19 is the training, research and development arm of St Edmund's Nursery School, Bradford. For over a decade, we have worked in partnership to improve outcomes and increase social mobility for children through school & setting improvement, training and qualifications, guidance, and cutting-edge educational initiatives.

BIRTH TO 19

TRAINING

We offer professional qualifications in Early Years, Primary and Secondary Education, through both school-centred initial teacher training and apprenticeships.

BIRTH TO 19

SCITT

Established in 2013, Birth to 19 School Centred Initial Teacher Training works in partnership with schools and settings in Bradford and across the country. We provide a practice-based and research-informed training experience for postgraduates leading to qualified teacher status.

BIRTH TO 19

APPRENTICESHIP ACADEMY

Our apprenticeship offer is new for 2024, focusing on Early Years, teaching and teaching assistant apprenticeships. Our apprentices train while employed within St Edmund's and in other local nurseries, schools and settings.

BIRTH TO 19

INSTITUTE FOR THE EARLY YEARS

Our Institute for the Early Years has a focused mission to have a positive impact on improving life chances, with a focus on the first five years of a child's life.

Stronger Practice Hub

Our hub supports professional development and quality improvement for childminders and colleagues working in private nurseries and schools in West and South Yorkshire.

50 things to do

Through place-based, playful experiences, 50 Things to Do helps young children to have the best start in life. We support parents to build relationships and develop their child's language through play. We know that when early years settings help families make their home a great place to play and learn, they support children's development, which contributes to improved life chances. Launched in 2018, 50 Things to Do has now been commissioned by over 20 areas across the British Isles.
